WHEN HITLER'S HOSTS RAN RIOT.

OUTBREAK OF JEW-BAITING.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK BERLIN'S BIG STORES.

The hysterical nature of German Fascism, led by Herr Hitler, is suggested by the following account of the scenes in Berlin at the opening of the new Reichstag session last month. Readers can judge for themselves how far this kind of thing is likely to spread in sober and stolid Germany!

An Englishman in Berlin at the time writes:—
I was an eye-witness of, among other excesses the attack made by Hitler's supporters—some of them raw youths—upon the café and tenpenny, well known to foreign visitors, at the corner of the Tiergartenstrasse and Stresemannstrasse, whose owner is a Jewish business man.

The mob, which had been chased away from the precincts of the Reichstag by the police, hurried across the turf of the Tiergarten towards the tenpenny, and began to bombard the windows with stones and other missiles.

Customers Routed.

Shouting "Down with the Jew!" a dozen leaders of the mob then invaded the terrace, overturning tables, scattering cups and saucers and driving the crowd of customers into the interior of the establishment. Waiters, who certainly were not Jews, made an effort to resist the onslaught, but like their customers, they were driven away. The mob then raced towards the Potsdamerplatz, one of the nerve centres of Berlin traffic, and there made a noisy anti-Jewish demonstration in front of other cafés, whose proprietors they supposed to be Jews. Police reinforcements arrived on horseback, in lorries and on foot, and the disorder was quelled.

Store Windows Wrecked.

Many of the Hitlerites, thus dispersed by the police, marched down to the Leipzigerstrasse, to the famous department store of Wertheim—the Selfridges of Berlin—which they attempted to storm.

Stones were hurled through the plate-glass windows, and a big rush was made to invade the building. The arrival of 40 armed policemen saved the situation.

The Fascist mob then proceeded to shatter the windows of several other big shops, a bank and a well-known hotel. For two hours they terrorized the business centre, taking advantage of the fact that no adequate police protection had been provided.

The scenes outside the Reichstag and in the Tiergarten before the anti-Jewish food developed were of an equally amazing nature. Several thousand Hitlerites, all whistling and shouting "Hail, Hitler," had assembled near the Brandenburg Gate, and became so menacing that the police used truncheons and fired their revolvers in the air to disperse them. Again and again, before they began Jew-baiting, the Hitlerites spread towards the police cordon, but on each occasion they were easily driven off, mounted police joining in the chase after them.

Eighty arrests were made. After nightfall further clashes between police and Fascists occurred outside the Reichstag.

Before the Reichstag assembled the 107 National Socialists met in conference at a Berlin café to listen to final instructions as to parliamentary tactics from Adolf Hitler.

their Austrian-born leader, "the man without a country," as he called himself at the recent Leipzig trial.

[Hitler's Austrian birth makes him ineligible for the Reichstag. "When old Austria was disrupted," he has stated, "I lost my former nationality without gaining a new one."]

Hitler was in the Lobby of the Reichstag when his legions arrived, each man wearing the German Fascist uniform—a khaki shirt, with a red armband bearing the swastika sign on the left arm, "shorts," brown belts and shoulder straps, and in some cases top boots. The Communists refrained from appearing in their red shirts. The Hohenzollern Prince August Wilhelm, who is a member of Hitler's party, had a seat in the gallery.

Deputies of all the other parties were seated in the Chamber when the Hitlerites, headed by their parliamentary leader, Dr. Goebbels, marched in. Before they took their seats they gave the Fascist salute, and shouted "Hail Hitler!"

Reeds Defeated.

Although the proceedings were largely formal they were interrupted by the constant tumult caused by the shouting and storming Fascists and Reds. As a precaution the ink-pots had been removed from most of the desks.

That their antagonism does not prevent them on occasions becoming allies in disruption, was revealed by the readiness with which the Fascists supported the Reds in a motion—which was defeated—to secure the sitting of the Reichstag for a debate on a resolution calling for the "tearing-up" of the Young Plan.

UNITED STATES NAVY.

THE REDUCTIONS SUMMARISED.

Further details of the reductions in the United States Navy are contained in the following extract from the Christian Science Monitor. The new order reduces the American fleet to the proportion fixed in the London Naval Treaty, or below. It involves a decrease in personnel of 4800 men at the earliest practical date, and a saving of $11,000,000, spread over the next year and nine months. Beginning November 1 naval enlistments will be lowered from 400 to 200 men per month.

The curtailment programme is now on Mr. Hoover's desk where it fits in with his programme of paring down the costs of the Federal Government. While not popular with the Navy Department personnel, there seems little prospect of any departmental revolt by big navy men, and the new measure is described as a reorganization rather than an economy cut.

Admiral Pratt explained the move as designed to make the navy more efficient, using the materials already on hand. The fleet, he said, when operated under a treaty of naval limitation is only for the purpose of training and not at all the size necessary for waging war. In making the reorganization, therefore, Admiral Pratt gave special attention to tactical units for training purposes.

Reorganization.

Summarized, the chief reorganization moves follow:—

1. All battleships, except two older vessels, are to be assigned to the Pacific coast.
2. A new training squadron is to be organized and maintained on the Atlantic coast.
3. Submarines are to be cut to approximately London Naval Treaty strength.
4. Destroyers are to be cut 57,000 tons under the proportion set by the London treaty, with the expectation that new vessels will be built.
5. The total cut on naval strength is to be 180,000 tons, which includes the battleship Florida and the Dochester and Camden, the latter already off the active list.
6. This programme to take effect immediately.

The scrapping programme really means that many of the older vessels carried on the navy lists will now be sunk.

The full obligations upon the United States under the naval treaty will be carried out.

Two Battleships on Atlantic Coast.

The new training squadron will handle all training work, Admiral Pratt said, while the scouting fleet will be able to devote all its time to manoeuvres. The latter will have attached to it no battleships, but will be led by the new 10,000-ton cruiser Augusta, under construction at Newport News.

The only two battleships on the Atlantic Coast will be the Arizona and the Wyoming, which carry 12-inch guns, contrasted to 14-inch and 16-inch guns of other battleships.

The Wyoming and Arizona are scheduled either for the scrap heap or to become training ships. As a result of this, critics of the Administration's efforts at London now point out that the treaty had the effect of cutting American battleship strength down from 18 to 14 effective instead of 15. The training squadron will be manned by skeleton crews.

The Destroyer Flotilla.

Although the London treaty permits the retention of 150,000 tons of destroyers and although the United States now has only 112,293 tons in active operation, this is to be cut even further under the Pratt reorganization plan to 92,430 tons. Most of the American destroyers are out of date, Admiral Pratt explained. He seeks a new building programme to reach the treaty limit. Sixteen destroyers and two mine layers are to be laid up.

Destroyer squadrons, which in the past have numbered six ships in each, will be cut to four.

A total of 25 submarines with a tonnage of 14,100, will go out of commission, leaving a force of 11,000. The treaty provides for 22,000 tons.

The air forces are to remain unchanged.

ANCIENT ILLYRIAN CITIES.

DISCOVERED IN NORTHERN DALMATIA.

ROMAN, GREEK AND STONE AGE.

Zagreb, Jugoslavia.—Archaeologists have recently made important discoveries in various parts of Jugoslavia. In Macedonia, which lies in the southern part of the kingdom, the Serbian Royal Academy of Science has unearthed the foundations of two Roman fortresses which are believed to date from the second century B. C. The walls which have been uncovered are thick and solidly built and inclose an area of about 20,000 square yards in extent. One of the foundations is square in form and the other octagonal.

Much more imposing ruins have been found in northern Dalmatia not far from the old picturesque town of Knin by Fra Lujko Marun, a well-known Croatian scholar. He says that they are what is left of two old Illyrian cities built by the natives of the Balkan Peninsula before it was conquered by the Romans. The archaeologist believes settlements cover large areas and that they represent something entirely new in the history of ancient times. He will soon publish his conclusions and a description of his discoveries in detail.

Coins of Caesar and Mark Antony.

In this south district, somewhat nearer to the Adriatic Sea, not far from the city of Gopitch, a number of interesting coins have been dug up, some by scholars and others by villagers. Many of them bear the names of Caesar and of Mark Antony and appear to date from the time of the second famous Roman triumvirate. Among them is a gold ring with a large yellow stone. Most of these objects have been collected in the museum here. Older than any of these ruins are the remains of a very ancient settlement believed to date from the Stone Age, perhaps two millennia B.C., that have been discovered by Dr. Miodrag Gribitch, of the Belgrade National Museum, not far from the city of Aradglovats, in the heart of Serbia. About 150 objects have been unearthed there, including statues, dishes, primitive tools, axes, flint knives and the horns of animals. No trace of anything in iron was found among these objects. Relics of several such ancient settlements have been found in this part of the Balkan Peninsula.

Revolution by radio is the nature if not the title of a programme which the Brazilian Government is giving listeners in Brazil every day during the progress of the present internal difficulties. Radio was for a while the only means of communicating with some of the isolated points, but now everybody having radio sets has been encouraged to listen in on the daily communications. At the same time, citizens have been asked to assist in locating sending stations controlled by the opposition. Radio also is being used to radiocast lists of missing persons and other personal news to families in districts cut off from Federal Government seats.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG.

"Adam and fallen man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 9.

The Golden Text was: "As by the offence of one judgment came upon all men to condemnation; even so by the righteousness of one the free gift came upon all men to redemption; even so by the righteousness of one the free gift came upon all men unto justification of life." (Romans 5: 18.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him: and he cannot sin, because he is born of God." (1 John 3: 9.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The standard of perfection was originally God and man; His God taken down. His own standard, and has man fallen? God is the creator of man, and the divine Principle of man remaining perfect, the divine idea or reflection, man, remains perfect." (p. 470.)

SULTAN OF JOHORE.

QUIETLY MARRIED IN LONDON.

The marriage of Sir Ibrahim, the Sultan of the State and Territory of Johore (Malay Peninsula), and Mrs. Helen Wilson, formerly the wife of Mr. William Brockie Wilson, took place at Prince's Bow Registry Office, Westminster, on October 15. The age of the Sultan was given at 57, and that of his bride as 40, the address of both being Grosvenor House.

The Sultan has known Mrs. Wilson for a number of years, and has not been on several previous visits in London. He returned to London five days ago after a special visit to Johore to make arrangements at his Palace for the return of the Sultaness when they return from their honeymoon.

Mrs. Wilson is the daughter of a Scottish business man who lived at Kilmarnock. She went to Singapore to marry a young doctor. Her husband's father was the State physician of Johore. She often visited Johore Bharu, the capital of the State, and there she met the Sultan. Later her marriage turned out unhappily. She returned to England, and now she is free. The wedding is the result of a dash across Europe on the part of the Sultan, and followed the proposal within a few days.

In the notice of marriage the Sultan was described as a widower. Mrs. Wilson described herself as "formerly Bartholomew and formerly the wife of William Brockie Wilson," from whom it was added that she was divorced. She and her fiancé went to the registrar office together to apply for the marriage licence.

THE SILVER SCREEN.

"THE KISS" SHOWING AT THE QUEEN'S.

"The Kiss," starring Greta Garbo, is being shown to crowded houses at the Queen's Theatre, and movie fans who appreciate a clever and powerful plot should make it a point of seeing this film. Greta Garbo, who takes the rôle of the wife who tries to remain true to her husband although she has no love for him, shows some excellent acting.

The story concerns that of Irene Quarry, wife of a wealthy silk merchant of Lyons, who is leading an intensely unhappy life because she is in love with another man who is not her husband. On account of the mad jealousy of her husband, she realizes the futility of asking him to grant her a divorce in order that she may marry her lover, Andre, a young barrister. The husband is not aware of the affair between his wife and Andre, but feels madly jealous of the attentions given to his wife by an eighteen year old boy, Pierre.

Returning home one night, the husband finds the infatuated Pierre forcing his attentions on his wife. In his rage, he was almost killing the boy, and Irene fired a shot at her husband which kills him.

At the Police Court, Irene is charged with murder. Andre, her lover, was her defending counsel. How Andre succeeded in convincing the jury that Irene did not murder her husband, and subsequent developments after Irene had been freed provided a thrilling climax to the story.

The rôle of Andre, the lover, is ably taken by Conrad Nagel.

"FLORODORA GIRL" AT THE QUEEN'S THEATRE.

Marion Davies, who is starred in "The Florodora Girl," which will open on Wednesday at the Queen's Theatre as a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., and educated in a convent at Hastings-on-the-Hudson. Miss Davies won recognition in "When Knighthood was in Flower," and since that time has been established as one of the screen's foremost personalities, making her talkie debut in "The Hollywood Revue of 1929."

CENTRAL THEATRE.

A big array of Broadway talent is featured in "Glorifying the American Girl." Florenz Ziegfeld, who originally conceived the idea of "glorifying" girls for his famous revues, personally supervised this Paramount production, and J. P. McEvoy, the creator of the vivacious Dixie Dugan of "Show Girl" fame, wrote the story. "Glorifying the American Girl" has been produced as a show within a show. It is the story of a department store salesgirl who dreams of becoming a Ziegfeld star. Mary Eaton is the Gloria Hughes who dreams of bright lights and fame comes to life with a refreshing and believable touch. Miss Eaton is a delight to behold and is disarmingly gay and charming.

Millard Webb directed "Glorifying the American Girl," which will be presented at the Central Theatre on Thursday.

"Pointed Heels."

Two Helen Kanes will be seen and heard in a forthcoming Paramount film production—one of them wholly different from the little girl who baby-talked her way into fame as a Broadway, radio, photograph and talking picture entertainer. The other will be her true self.

For a time Miss Kane "goes operatic" but she soon becomes her old self William Powell plays the male lead and A. Edward Sutherland directs "Pointed Heels," the Paramount picture which will open on Thursday, and "The Saturday Night Kid."

ARMISTICE SUNDAY.

DEAN'S PLEA FOR LEAGUE
OF NATIONS.SUPPORT THE LOCAL BRANCH.

Yesterday was observed as Armistice Sunday by the Churches of the Colony, special reference being made to the problem of international relations and the struggle for the abolition of war.

At St. John's Cathedral, in the morning, Dean Swann first made a special appeal for attendance at the service, on Armistice Day, in the Cathedral at 9.45 a.m. The service at the Cathedral would, as usual, be very short and consist only of two prayers and the singing of the hymn always chosen for that occasion.

The Dean made a special appeal on behalf of the League of Nations, a branch of which is to be organized in Hong Kong, the inaugural meeting being at the Cathedral Hall on November 26.

There had always been, said the preacher, a desire on the part of the true followers of Christ to substitute a better method than war for the settlement of disputes between the nations. There had been in the past many attempts and many failures. After the fall of Napoleon the Czar of Russia founded the Holy Alliance, in which a group of nations sought to proscribe war. Britain held aloof and her suspicions of the Czar's motives unfortunately, were justified and the Alliance accomplished little. Later came the system by which groups of nations bound themselves together for mutual protection. But each group eyed the other suspiciously, and there was no security.

After the Great War, the setting up of the League of Nations, was embodied in the Treaty of Versailles as the expression of world hatred of war. Forty two nations joined at once, and the number had now been increased to 54, representing three quarters of the human race. After summarising the constitution of the League, the Dean said that the Council of the League had, since its inception, intervened in no less than 17 big political crises, and on every occasion a peaceful settlement had been reached. The statesmen of the world were getting the habit of working together, they knew each other, and such was the publicity thrown on the proceedings at Geneva that it was not easy for any national representative to come forward with a weak and unjust cause. The verdict of the world was taken, not merely that of the League itself.

There was a court of international justice, consisting of 15 judges, ready to hear disputes regarding treaty interpretation and matters of international law. Next year this court, which sat at the Hague, would be placed on a permanent basis instead of only meeting for annual sessions or when specially needed. The nations were learning slowly to go to law instead of to war.

Mention was then made of the work of the League committees in the matter of disarmament, health, labour conditions, the traffic in women and children, and other spheres which could only be handled by an international body. The League of Nations was doing the work of Christ, of healing the sick, helping the prisoners and defending the helpless, on a greater scale than any other organization in the history of the world.

UNION CHURCH SERMON.

OUR UNFINISHED TASK.

Taking as his text "And thou mayest add thereto," the Rev. E. G. Powell at the Union Church service yesterday said that it was true in the life of nature that we receive and retain the good things as we add to our heritage, and that surely is the message of Armistice. Those who made the supreme sacrifice in the war were idealists and dreamers. They died for freedom, for the liberty and rights of nations, both great and small. They had visions of better world conditions. Life was to be full of new possibilities. But instead of marching forward from the Armistice of 1918 to such peace and prosperity we find ourselves in a chaos of commercial and industrial depression. Ideals have been handed down to us and are a sacred trust, and we should continuously try to realize them. Surely the time has come when we must never forget our debt and duty to the glorious dead.

NINETEEN DAYS IN BANDITS' HANDS.VIVID DESCRIPTION BY
"D.P." CORRESPONDENT.

Our Canton correspondent, who was for 19 days in the hands of bandits, relates his experiences as follows:—

Early in the evening of October 19 I was returning to Canton from Sai Tsuen in the western suburb of the city with my wife and sister-in-law in a motor-car, when I fell into the hands of about a dozen bandits, who were all armed with Mausers. They suddenly appeared on the road and ordered me to stop the car, pretending to search for illicit firearms. Thinking they were police officers I complied with the order, only to realise later that they were bandits. After searching my pockets and the car, they dragged us into a lonely spot through graves and rice fields. The bandits avoided every open road for obvious reasons, and after going some distance the ladies were released on the condition that they made no report to the police.

Capture Reported to Police.

My wife, however, reported the matter at once to the police and other authorities who acted with the greatest promptitude and over a hundred soldiers and detectives were sent out the very next day in search of me. Villages were broken into and village elders and others showing the slightest suspicion were arrested. Demands for my release or whereabouts were made, while several villagers were fatally wounded for not heeding the orders of the soldiers.

In the meantime I was taken into a mountain overlooking the Government Smokeless Powder Manufacturing Plant near the Little North River. I made an unsuccessful attempt to escape on the way, and was severely beaten about the head and body with the butts of their automatics. We got to the mountain after about two hours' walk, when I was taken to a grave in a ravine near the top of the mountain. Here I remained for the next twenty-four hours with my hands tied through my legs and this was torture which I could hardly bear. The bandits told me that was the usual punishment meted out to those who tried to escape and warned me if I tried to run away again, they would shoot me. All day long I was given no food, save a little cake which was unfit even for a dog, while I could not sleep that night as the place was swarming with mosquitoes, flies and insects of every description.

"Please Shoot Me."

When the next night came, they divested me of my shoes, socks and outer clothes, and gave me some dirty black clothes instead. I was then taken down the mountain where some fifteen robbers were waiting, and was forced to walk bare-footed for more than thirty miles through roughest mountain trails under cover of total darkness, walking from about 7 o'clock at night to dawn the next morning. The whole journey was a most trying one, as I was suffering from want of sleep and food. The robbers were absolutely devoid of human feeling and were as hard, rigid and relentless as they could possibly be. Finally I was so exhausted that I fell into a creek and here I refused to walk any further, and begged them to shoot me; to put an end to my suffering which was becoming more and more unbearable. However, I was dragged out of the creek and was forced to walk again, but it was evident, even to them, that I was exhausted, both physically and mentally.

At dawn the next morning, after walking through the districts of Poon Yu, Tsong Fa and part of Tsing Yuen, we finally came to a small village, and I was locked up for the next nine days in a mud house. A dirtier spot I never saw. Big spiders, rats, centipedes, snails, mosquitoes and flies swarmed the place. My legs were tightly locked and my neck was chained, so that I could hardly move. The food given me was of the poorest kind. Sometimes I was allowed only one bowl of rice a day.

Large Ransom Demanded.

The bandit chief came to me on the second day and demanded $100,000 Hong Kong currency for my ransom, and when I told him I had no such sum, he said he would take $70,000. When I told him that this was also impossible, he said the minimum was $20,000 and that I must give him $10,000 and then he would let me go.

THE TIME GUN.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR,—May I, through the medium of your valuable paper, call the attention of the authority concerned that the report of the 9 p.m. gun is nearly always inaudible in certain parts of the city, and I ask that some improvement be made so as to enable more people to make use of this means to keep proper time.—Yours, etc.

"TIME IS MONEY."

After nine days in this "cell," I was taken into the mountains, as the Government troops were following us very closely. The bandits kept on telling me that I was going to be shot. The next day the two guards fell asleep and I crept up close to them and took their hats. I chopped them on the head with the intent to kill, but somehow I only succeeded in wounding them, although one was cut seven times and the other four times. They fought with me desperately, and for a while I grappled with them, but it was evident that with my feet and neck chained I was no match for them. They rushed at me and took away the hatchet and began to strike me and I was hit several times on the head, arms and body. After that they stopped to bandage up their wounds, leaving me in the cave. I broke the lock on my feet and began to run down the mountain but they saw me and gave chase. I was soon overtaken and dragged back and was given no food or water and exposed to the cold weather for the next two days.

During the last few days they moved me from place to place, as the police were fast closing in on them. Finally the police located where they were, and a heavy battle followed. I was ordered to keep silent while they fought with the police, but after an hour or so the bandits fled, leaving me in the cave; I then called out and the police came to my rescue. Such was the ordeal I had to go through during the 19 days I was in the hands of the bandits.

ST. LEGER WON BY MR. DA ROZA ON KING'S COLOUR.

BRILLIANT JOCKEYSHIP BRINGS HONOUR TO "DYNASTY" —CANDIDATE: FAVOURITE WELL BEATEN.

MR. SOARES STEERS IN O-MOON TO PAY THE DAY'S BIGGEST DIVIDEND.

EX-DERBY WINNER RETURNS TO WINNING FORM.

[By "MORNING DEW."]

The well-fancied Wisdom Stag was beaten in the St. Leger on Saturday by both King's Colour and Mike and the victory of the Dynasty candidate was due in no small measure to the excellent judgment of Mr. G. U. da Roza who handled the winner superbly. Both he and the owner of King's Colour were given a great ovation as the pony was led in after winning the classic event.

The sport was marked by several very keen finishes and on the whole the day was one of the best, from the public's point of view, of the whole year's racing.

Several jockeys showed great brilliance during the afternoon. Mr. da Roza's great win on King's Colour was not only equalled but somewhat eclipsed by Mr. F. M. L. Soares' win on O-Moon later in the afternoon. In the last race Mr. S. N. Pan, riding Christmas Chimes, provided a great thrill when he raced all the way up the straight neck-and-neck with Chesapeake Bay finishing a short head in front of his opponent.

Mr. L. Reidy, in the second race, steered in City Hall, an ex-Derby winner, and paid his supporters 7-1. It was a great finish in which the ex-Derby winner showed more grit than the rest. Mr. Frost rode Royal Flush to victory in the opening event of the day where his hard driving enabled Royal Flush to win fairly comfortably. Later in the afternoon Mr. Frost brought The Tiger to victory, after a spectacular dash up the straight which he entered almost last in a field of ten. He got the verdict by half a length from three other ponies which dead-headed for third place.

CHRISTMAS CHIMES' GREAT VICTORY IN LAST RACE.

THE RACING.

For the first race, over six furlongs for "A" classes, Pride of Tsingtao carried a little more money than either Majestic Hall or Royal Flush. The last-named was sent to the front at the fall of the flag and Mr. Frost had no difficulty in keeping him there all the way. The Duke of Chantilly, the most scantily supported pony, was second all the way, but a last minute effort by Majestic Hall just deprived the Duke's supporters of place money. The betting was so even that the winner paid over $17 for each winning ticket.

City Hall Wins.

The next race was over a mile for "C" Class and the two best fancied animals, Tonbridge and Tango, were both unplaced. The race up the straight was exceptionally exciting as Grey Dawn, Bridge Hall and Mount Elburz were in a straight line and none gave way an inch while the winning post was drawing near all the time. Then, from the back, City Hall made a last-minute rush and just "pipped" the three leaders on the post. Grey Dawn was second a short head in front of Mount Elburz and Bridge Hall, but between these two, the judges could not see any difference and the verdict was a dead heat for third place.

Three Ponies Dead Heat.

In the next race, the mile and quarter for "B" Class ponies, The Tiger was a warm favourite and he won by a close margin after an exceptionally hard finish in which Mr. Frost took all there is out of the skewball. New Year's Eve and Pickle showed the way throughout, and entering the straight, Pickle was a good three to four lengths ahead of the field. Mr. Harriman, who was riding Pickle, applied the whip and Pickle responded beautifully, but the effort was too early and Pickle gradually dropped back, being well beaten a hundred yards before the finish. Four Clubs, Little Thunder and New Year's Eve all passed Pickle at the Mile Post and while they were fighting for leadership, The Tiger was sent through on the rails to win by half a length. The other three dead-headed for second place.

The St. Leger.

There were only five starters in the St. Leger and Wisdom Stag was made a very strong favourite, commanding more than four times as many tickets as either Peppercorn or King's Colour. Mike and Blue Boy had only scant support from the public.

Blue Boy set the pace at the outset and after leading over the first six furlongs, he literally faded out of the race. Meanwhile Peppercorn and Wisdom Stag hung on at the rear whilst King's Colour and Mike set out after the pace-maker. Passing the winning post for the first time, Peppercorn was sent up to take the lead which he did until the Rock was reached, when the field was well bunched. Here Mr. da Roza sent out King's Colour and he stayed there throughout, coming home, winning finally by a length and half from Mike. This latter passed the favourite in the straight and at one stage looked as if he would catch up on King's Colour, but Mr. da Roza who was riding the winner was on the alert and managed to stall off the challenge.

Obeared to a Man.

The public, including the disappointed punters who backed the losers cheered the winner to a man and Mr. Pearce and his jockey were given a great ovation as King's Colour was led in to the weighing-in compound. It was in fact a great win and much credit is due to Mr. da Roza for his fine judgment of King's Colour's capacity. His decision to take the lead from the Rock was a bold one but King's Colour responded sufficiently well for this step to be taken. It was Mr. da Roza's only win of the day, but it was also his greatest win of the season.

Novice Race.

As predicted, Christmas Belle started a favourite in the Fanning Plate. He was an odds-on bet, but he never looked anything else but a winner all the way. Mr. Bramwell chose a position near the van and at the village took the lead to enter home three lengths in front of Shanghai Beau, ridden by Mr. A. W. da Roza. As You Like It was a short head behind Shanghai Beau.

O-Moon's Comeback.

There were eleven starters in the "O" Class six furlongs handicap in which the only subscription griffins was O-Moon.

It was expected that this race would prove a great tussle between Young Pretender and Marquis Hall but events proved that the last named is a pony of moods and he disappointed his supporters on Saturday.

Monte Bay led practically all the way but averted very wide on coming in the straight when Young Pretender, momentarily took the lead. Mr. Soares, who was riding O-Moon, got well away at the start but dropped to ninth place at the Rock. Here the pace began to slacken slightly and O-Moon gradually crept up again. Once in the straight Mr. Soares pushed the crack sub and he responded beautifully. In the last fifty yards he stepped on it like a thoroughbred and just snatched victory from the post from Monte Bay, who in turn was a neck in front of Young Pretender.

Here the winning jockey gave a clever exhibition of hard driving and endurance. In spite of the fact that O-Moon found the pace too hot for him over the first quarter, he was kept at it throughout and being a "one-speed" pony he lived up to his mechanical regularity by coming along with a great burst of speed to snatch victory from fast tiring rivals.

Another 10-1 Victory.

Following O-Moon's victory, Mr. Proulx brought home Teuchit to return almost 10-1. Here Ostris and Sunning carried most of the money with Teuchit a poor third in demand. The pony was sent to the front by a long way from home and he stayed there throughout, coming home, winning finally by a length and half from Mike. This start and Mr. Pan did all that was possible under the circumstances to bring the pony within three quarters of a length of the winner. Mongolian Stag was a good third. All three ponies were only just able to falter past the post at the finish—so great was the earlier pace. The race, which is for "D" class ponies, was done in 2 minutes and 10 seconds.

Mr. Pan's Fine Ride.

One of the most thrilling finishes seen for many a day at Happy Valley was provided in the last race of the day in which there were four starters, these being Windsor Stag, Christmas Chimes, Chesapeake Bay and Piccadilly. The first two were most in demand.

Piccadilly set a fast pace over the first three-quarters of a mile which was done in 1 minute 31.1 seconds. He then, for all practical purposes, dropped out of the race. The two favourites entered the straight together with Chesapeake Bay at their heels. The last named has a well-known tendency to run wide and Mr. Roza did well to keep him on the rails. In the straight the pace was too much for Windsor Stag who was carrying top-weight, and he fell out. From the distance post, Mr. Roza sent Chesapeake Bay on the inside of Christmas Chimes and in a few strides drew level. Then followed a spectacular race in which Chesapeake Bay looked as if he would win, being a matter of inches in front all the while. Christmas Chimes, however, was subjected to one of the hardest pieces of riding on Saturday and he eventually won by what is officially described as a short head.

Thus ended one of the best day's racing this year, in which the chances were always open and in which the favourites turned up as often as outsiders with a few moderately backed ones coming up now and again. Several jockeys did remarkably well and the honours among owners were fairly even throughout.

WOMAN FLIER ARRIVES

MRS. VICTOR BRUCE LANDS SAFELY
AT KAI TAK YESTERDAY.

ENTERTAINING CHAT DESCRIBING HER TRIALS ON PAR EASTERN FLIGHT.

Wearing a homely dress of striped linen, flesh-coloured stockings and canvas shoes, the Hon. Mrs. Victor Bruce landed at Kai Tak Aerodrome at 2.30 p.m. yesterday to receive hearty congratulations on her safe arrival from the Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, Mrs. Shenton, and Mrs. A. J. R. Moss, members of the Hong Kong Flying Club and others who awaited her arrival from Fort Bayard in Kwong Chow Wan.

The Lions medal, signifying "A Million Elephants and White Umbrella," awarded to her at Hanoi for being the first airwoman to land in French Indo-China proudly dangled from her breast, and the only other articles in her simple attire were a necklace and a brooch, the latter being a gift received in Siam.

Mrs. Bruce left Hanoi on Saturday at 9.50 a.m. on her flight to Hong Kong, but owing to unfavourable winds she was obliged to land at 3 p.m. at Fort Bayard. This was confirmed in a Reuter cable late in the evening, but during the whole afternoon a large gathering waited patiently until dusk and left disappointed. At 3.45 p.m. the same afternoon, Mr. Howes, the Club instructor, and Mr. Harvey, of the Far East Aviation Company, left in two machines on a cruise which carried them near Macao. They returned two hours later after a fruitless journey.

News having been received that she left Fort Bayard at 11 a.m. yesterday, the machines again left at about 1 o'clock to meet Mrs. Bruce and escort her to the landing ground. They returned an hour later with no news, but while they were standing by at 2.30 p.m., Mrs. Bruce's machine appeared in quite another direction above the hills at the back of the Club. The two machines again went up and Mr. Howes cut across the bay and led the visitor. After some time the latter turned about and made a graceful landing at the far end of the reclamation. The others also landed and Mr. Howes conveyed Mrs. Bruce in his own machine which drew up in front of the Club. Mrs. Bruce's machine was later flown across the intervening stretch and formed the object of much attention.

Amusing Inscriptions.

After a merry chat with the gathering at the Club-house, during which she remarked that she was made the "Queen" by Baluchi tribesmen, Mrs. Bruce adjourned upstairs for lunch, while the gathering inspected the Blackburn Bluebird. A bunch of Honolulu creepers and chrysanthemums lay at the back of the seat above a Dictaphone. A large number of indicators and controls inside the cockpit also interested the gathering. The amusing side was provided by the inscriptions all over the wings and even on the tail of the machine, the following being some of them:—
"The very best, Constance Coggins, Akyah, please your safety for you all way; I hope you will be successful; please the God help you; go on, God will help you, Fort Bayard; bon voyage, Phra Phanora, Governor of Lakhone, Siam." There was another line reading "I am walking to Jask." Mrs. Bruce later explained that she wrote this herself after her trying experience in the desert when she decided to walk back, the line being boldly scribbled for the information of the rescue party she was anxiously awaiting.

The machine is designed to carry an extra passenger, but this space has been utilised for extra petrol tanks, bringing the total fuel capacity to 72 gallons, this being sufficient for between eight and nine hours' flying at a cruising speed of 90 miles per hour. The wireless aerial is distributed between the wing stays and the tail, a small generator being fixed on the left lower wing. GABDS in bold letters are painted both on the top and bottom of the wings.

In an interview which she kindly accorded to Press representatives, Mrs. Bruce said that she left Heston Aerodrome on September 25 and all went well until Frankfurt where she was obliged to land owing to rain and clouds. She was forced later to cut across to Munich after trying eight different routes, her plane being the only one to get through the mountains that day.

Among the Tribesmen.

The next misfortune came owing to shortage of fuel about 40 miles from Aleppo, where she was compelled to land. A French military plane came to the rescue, the tanks were filled, and she continued her journey. Oil trouble developed on the way to Karachi, where she expected to land, but she was however she was compelled to land on sand which, however, proved to be soft. The wheels sank and the machine buried its nose in the sand.

At this time the Baluchi tribesmen appeared on the scene. She succeeded in making friends with them, and by means of gestures got them to assist in putting the machine on a level keel. This proved to be a failure. Mrs. Bruce then persuaded one of the tribesmen to take a note for help, but after waiting three days without any rescue party arriving she decided to walk to Jask, scribbling a line on the machine "walking to Jask" in the hope that if assistance came later they would know which way she had gone.

After covering about 5 miles under a blazing sun without the slightest hope of reaching her destination, Mrs. Bruce said that she dropped exhausted under a palm tree and fell asleep. In the meantime a rescue party found the machine and by following her foot steps in the sand they reached the spot where she was sleeping. Relating this part of the story, Mrs. Bruce said that British warships had been searching the waters for two days. Although they were far away she waved and tried to attract their attention, but it was useless. "It nearly broke my heart," she added.

With the aid of the rescue party, a spare propeller was fitted and the machine dragged about half a mile to a narrow canal track. Here she was able to take off for Jask, a mechanic squeezing himself on the fuselage, quite a thrilling perch.

"Waiting for the Tigers."

After three weeks at Jask during which the engine had to be re-built with spare parts, the journey was resumed over jungle in "frightful weather" which again forced her down. She succeeded in locating a piece of clear ground in the middle of the jungle which stretched for miles, making a safe landing. "I sat on top of the plane in case the tigers came," she remarked with a smile. After studying her maps while the storm raged, she took off again as soon as the storm abated and found a landing ground at Lakhone in Siam.

"Every weather report seemed to be worse than the last," she said describing her wait for news to hop off to Hanoi. After five days she resumed her journey. She should have sighted Hanoi in two hours, but heavy clouds stretching for miles obscured the view. Eventually she sighted a railway line which guided her to Hanoi.

At Hanoi she was entertained at a banquet, at which she was decorated with "The Medal of a Million Elephants and the White Umbrella." She explained that the decoration was awarded to her because she was the first airwoman to land in French Indo-China, adding smilingly that the decoration gave her the privilege of having a white umbrella held over her head while she was walking.

Pirate Ship Sighted.

Continuing her story, she said that after leaving Hanoi for Hong Kong, bad weather was encountered and she decided to find a landing place half way. As she was flying at a low altitude, she saw a pirate ship flying a large red flag and full of men with red handkerchiefs waving in case they might try to get a shot at me," she said. After searching the peninsula she decided to land at Fort Bayard on a small patch of ground used as a football field. As a take-off was impossible from here on her load, the machine was lightened by taking everything movable away including petrol, and in this manner she managed to land on a plain where the tanks were refilled and accessories put aboard.

Mrs. Bruce added that she had good weather since leaving Fort Bayard at 11 a.m. and was happy to be in Hong Kong as she was badly in need of rest after her trying experiences.

Mrs. Bruce left later with Mr. and Mrs. Shenton, having given instructions as to what was required to be done to the machine. According to her intentions, the journey to Amoy will be resumed at 10 o'clock this morning.

She wore a dress of white satin cut in flared tiers trimmed with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids wore dresses of pink georgette cut in pointed flared skirts.

WEAR A
FLANDERS
POPPY.

IN FLANDERS FIELDS.

In Flanders field the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago,
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe;
To you from falling hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders Fields.

The fees to be met to-day by ex-service men consists of physical disability, trade depression and consequent unemployment. This distress is shared by their dependants. Take up this quarrel by giving a little more for your Poppy than you did last year.

THE WHITE ELEPHANT.

ONE of the Shanghai's leading economists, Mr. E. KANN, recently gave, in a paper read before the Pan-Pacific Association, a number of facts and figures bearing on the silver crisis, which can be taken as an admirable introduction, for the layman, to this highly technical matter. We all feel the effects of the crisis; we all know something about the sale of silver by the Indian Government, and other causes of the trouble, but a clear statement of the outstanding facts has been lacking.

At the outset Mr. KANN traced the enormous development of silver production during the past thirty years. Of the fifteen billion ounces of silver mined since 1493, when the discovery of America opened up vast new sources, it is estimated that six billions were mined during the last thirty years. For the period 1493-1900 the average output was 22 million ounces a year, and during 1900-1930 the average was 200 millions per annum. But Mr. KANN is convinced that over-production is not the cause of the present slump in silver. Until the present crisis developed the world had been steadily absorbing the output of the mines and there had been no headlong decline in the value of silver. In ancient days silver was of more value than gold and excavators in Greece have found golden ornaments overlaid with silver. In the Middle Ages the proportionate value was 1:11.3 in favour of gold. By 1800 the ratio had grown to 15, and by 1900 to 35:3. During the war the difference fell to 22 but at present it stands at over 60. One unit of gold is now worth more than 60 of silver.

The slump is primarily ascribed by Mr. KANN to "the extra supply of huge quantities of silver derived from de-monetized coin, a movement in which many nations have taken part." He blames Mr. Winston Churchill as the author of a large proportion of the trouble. In trying to balance his 1920 Budget the then Chancellor of the Exchequer saw his way to netting three million pounds sterling by reminting Britain's coinage at a lower silver content and selling the metal thus released. It may be recalled that the Senior Treasury Counsel, the late Sir RICHARD MOIR, remarked, laconically, on being shown one of the new florins, "I have had many a poor fellow sent to prison for five years, for making coin no worse than this." Unfortunately, for the silver market, Germany, Poland and France followed Britain's example, and several European countries have done the same subsequently. In 1929 Indo-China adopted the gold standard and unloaded 200 million ounces of silver. But British India is described as "the great enemy of silver's stability." When the move to a gold standard was decided upon in 1926 it was estimated that 240 million ounces, or over a year's world production, should be disposed of as the authorities thought fit, and up to now the India Treasury has sold eighty-five million ounces.

Another big cause of the slump is that silver, as an industrial commodity, has gone the way of many other of the world's metals, demand and price having fallen. In times of economic distress, silver, which is a form of investment, finds few buyers among the peasants of China and India, who normally put a big proportion of their savings into silver for ornament and for hoarding. The civil war in China has also decreased the demand for silver. The country districts have been denuded of silver currency, and the War Lords have delayed China with paper based on little or no reserve of metal. In former years India and China absorbed 770 million ounces per annum; industry and the arts 40 millions, leaving 30 millions for other world purposes, principally for coinage. Supply and demand were, therefore, well balanced.

Mr. KANN wisely suggests no remedy, nor does he venture to prophesy. "The romance of silver," he says in conclusion, "is continuing, and will lead us, let us hope, to a happy ending." We must await, he implies, settled conditions in China and some new invention or fashion which will create another use, on the grand scale, for what has now become the world's white elephant.

THE TRAGEDY OF LIBERALISM.

SIR ROBERT HUTTONSON's resignation from the post of Chief Liberal Whip, and Sir John SIMON's letter to Mr. Lloyd GEORGE, declaring that he reserves to himself the right to vote against the Labour Government when he sees fit, mark a further, and perhaps final stage in the break-up of the Liberal party.

Few students of politics would have predicted at the beginning of the year 1916 that a breach in the Liberal party was imminent, that it would be impossible to heal and fatal in its results. For ten years the party had governed England, it had fought, and won, two critical elections, and, under Mr. Asquith's leadership its position appeared impregnable. But the cleavage between the Radical left wing, and the inheritors of the Whig tradition was apparent long before the War broke out, and became acute as the life struggle with Germany continued. By a curious paradox the Radical wing, under Mr. Lloyd GEORGE, who had in peace sought by every possible means economy, on the fighting Services, complained that the men who had insisted on adequate armaments and an Imperial outlook in the decade before the War, were not prosecuting the struggle with sufficient vigour and whole-heartedness. The truth as to these charges will never be settled. It will remain a matter of opinion how far Mr. Asquith's Government could have done more, or whether the Coalition merely reaped what had been sown by the original War Cabinet. But the breach between the two sections of the party was complete. Mr. Asquith's followers, and most of all Viscount Grey of Fallodon, have never forgiven Mr. Lloyd GEORGE for the part which they allege he took in supplanting his old leader.

During the régime of the post-war Coalition fusion between the Lloyd GEORGE, or National Liberals with the Conservatives, was mooted out the Prime Minister was never happy, after the Armistice, with his Conservative colleagues. When his personal friend and co-leader, Mr. BONAR LAW left public life owing to a breakdown in health, the position soon became impossible, and the war crisis with Turkey in 1922 led to a Conservative revolt against Mr. Lloyd GEORGE, and the formation of a full Conservative Government. Attempts to reunite the Liberal party failed, ostensibly because Mr. Lloyd GEORGE insisted upon retaining control of the National Liberal "war chest," but in reality because the personal hostility between Mr. Lloyd GEORGE and ASQUITH Liberals continued unabated. Even the resignation of Mr. ASQUITH, in 1926, from the party leadership and the official re-union under Mr. Lloyd GEORGE, brought little result. Bickerings continued. There were defeats at the polls and secessions both among leaders and back bench members. All the time the Labour Party was seizing its opportunity to absorb the advanced wing of Liberalism. It was a young party, confident, well led and loyal to its leader. But the strength of the Liberal tradition waned slowly, and even in 1929 it polled five million votes against eight and a half by the Conservatives and just under that figure by the Labour party. But in the House of Commons the Liberal party has now less than sixty seats against the Conservative 260, and the Labour 287.

Nor are the prospects for the future at all favourable. British mentality does not take to the three party system, with its endless bargaining and compromises. "It is no good voting Liberal, for they will never get in," has become the attitude of all but the loyal party man. British public men, are not content to bargain, and haggle, and support measures which they dislike lest the reigning government's fall should prove a tactical disadvantage.

Liberalism has been ill-served by its leaders. Mr. Lloyd GEORGE is not a Liberal. By all instincts he is a Labour man. Though the most ardent of reformers he has no use for extravagance, and does his best to enforce grandiose schemes upon a reluctant party, which would like to go back to its old principle of economy in government, but cannot bring itself to break with the Welsh wizard. The party has drifted onto the rocks, and only a leader of the first political calibre could save it. At the moment there is no sign of such a man.

Mr. James W. Davidson of Canada, Hon. General Commissioner of Rotary International, is staying at the Hong Kong Hotel. He is here for the purpose of organizing a Rotary Club in this city. Mr. Davidson during the past two years has been extending the movement in India, Ceylon, Burma, Java, Sumatra, British Malaya and Siam where there are now successful clubs in all the principal cities to the number of twenty-one.

★ News and Views ★

In his speech at the annual meeting of Harrison and Crossfield, Ltd., the chairman, Mr. Eric Miller, referred to new uses for rubber and urged the desirability of laying rubber-surfaced blocks in City streets where traffic is heavy, and excessive noise and vibration are almost intolerable. The price at which a dependable rubber roadway can be laid has now been reduced, he said, to approximately £2 10s. per square yard, a price which compares very favourably with the cost, £2 per square yard, of laying granite setts. Recently it was stated by a representative of British Rubber and Associated Productions, Ltd., that the early difficulty of finding suitable methods of keeping rubber blocks in position when laid had been practically overcome. Wear and tear was barely perceptible, and there was less tendency for vehicles to skid on rubber.

The Turkish Minister of Finance has advised the council of the Ottoman Debt that Turkey was "no longer able to continue payments under the present conditions and suggested a revision of the Paris convention of 1923."

Seven years ago a man 62 years of age was grafted with monkey-glands by Doctor Serge Voronoff. To-day he has two little girls who, according to Dr. Voronoff, "are absolutely normal in every way; living refutations of assertions that the offspring of grafted people are almost bound to have similar characteristics." "There are a number of people," explained Dr. Voronoff, "who insist that the children of people grafted with monkey-glands will think and act like monkeys. I have always said that this was a fallacy, but my assertion was difficult to prove because enough time had not elapsed for children to be born to some of my patients. Such is no longer the case. I personally know of three such children and I am sure there are others."

H.M.S. Cornwall, Captain A. N. Dowling, which left Hong Kong on October 15 for Devonport to refit and recommission was docked at the new floating dock at Singapore on her way home. Her later programme is:—Penang, November 11; Colombo, November 18-20; Aden, November 20-22; Suez, December 1; Port Said, December 2; Malta, December 2-3; Gibraltar, December 11; and Devonport, December 15.

Probably no woman in the world has finer jewels than Queen May; certainly no other woman could wear such an array as the Queen wore at the dinner in honour of the Imperial delegates with greater dignity. To have seen the Queen in such an array is to know with exact judgment her gowns are chosen. Sometimes one hears speculation as to why the Queen does not follow current fashions more closely, but the airy, formless evening dresses of the past decade or so would be quite wrong and impractical in conjunction with the Koh-i-noor, the Lesser Star of Africa and the Garter ribbon.

Tom Mix, the cowboy film star whose appearances with his famous horse "Tony" have won a way into thousands of hearts, is seriously ill in Hollywood with a chest infection. The ailment is believed to be a result of the many injuries which he has suffered in the course of his frequently rough-and-tumble cinema enterprises.

The Chinese Geographical Society was one of the many foreign geographical societies represented at the centenary celebrations of the Royal Geographical Society last month. Among the speakers were Sir Francis Younghusband, a past-president, and Lord Lugard. The occasion was noteworthy as marking the use, for the first time, of the lecture theatre and library which have been added to the Society's house.

H.M.S. Suffolk, Captain G. S. Arbuthnot, D.S.O., left Portsmouth on October 19, after refit and recommissioning for the China Station, to resume duty as a unit of the Fifth Cruiser Squadron. It had been arranged for her to visit Port Swettenham on the voyage out, but in view of the delay in leaving this has been abandoned, and the ship will only touch at Gibraltar, Malta, Port Said, Suez, Aden, Colombo, and Singapore. She is due at Hong Kong on November 21.

Much interest has been aroused at Stockholm by the announcement that ten of the films found with the remains of the ill-fated Andreo Nordpole expedition have been sufficiently restored to admit projection. Ten other still-pictures are also fairly well preserved, giving altogether a good view of the landing of the balloon on White Island. Each of the films is about 60 feet long.

Looking Back 25 Years.
A cook and a "boy" are in custody in Macao charged with putting poison in the soup of their master and mistress, a Reverend American gentleman and his wife. Violent pains and sickness followed the eating of it. One theory is that the act is part of renewed boycott animus; another that it was in revenge for a scolding, and a "cutting" of their wages. However, these theories should await a verification of the charge. Hong Kong Daily Press, Nov. 10, 1925.

NEW BRAZILIAN GOVERNMENT.

RECOGNISED BY U.S.A.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. The United States has extended full recognition of the new Brazilian Government. The announcement was made with dramatic suddenness by Mr. Stimson following a prolonged conference with President Hoover at which a detailed report of the political situation in Brazil was considered.

The promptness with which the State Department acted herein is evidently designed to eradicate the memory of the diplomatic blunder made when the United States refused to permit shipments of arms to the revolutionaries.

The State Department has also shown it is keenly alive to the fact that valuable foreign markets are at stake in Brazil by recognising the new Government ahead of Great Britain, which is the United States' principal rival in those markets.

U.S. ELECTIONS.

LATEST REPRESENTATIVES
POSITION.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. The latest election returns give the Republicans a slight margin in the House of Representatives, the new figures being:

Republicans	218
Democrats	210
Farmer-Labour	1

The final position, however, will not be known for weeks as some of the contests have been so close that official recounts have been demanded in several constituencies. The Republicans won one seat from the Democrats in Iowa while the Democrats won new seats in Colorado, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, and West Virginia.

Although America is traditionally a woman's country there will be only six women in the new Congress, three of whom are "Drys" and three "Wets".

The outcome of the elections to the Senate is a stalemate. The Republican majority of one is by no means a practical one, and real control lies in the hands of about fifteen insurgents.

Co-operation Between the Party Leaders.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. Seven Democratic leaders, including Mr. Robinson and Mr. Garner, the Party leaders and Senate representatives, respectively, Mr. Raskob, Chairman of the National Committee, and Mr. J. P. Morgan, leader of the Executive Committee, jointly issued a statement to-day, pledging to co-operate with Republicans for the stimulation of business, and promising not to make an effort towards a general revision of the new tariff.

JEWISH IMMIGRANTS FOR REVERSAL OF POLICY.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

JERUSALEM, Nov. 8. The Jewish Agency has been officially notified that 1,500 permits for Jewish labour immigrants from 2,100 sought have been approved for the next six months. The London News Chronicle regards the announcement as a sudden and surprising reversal of the British Government's recently announced policy, which aroused Zionist protests all over the world.

AUSTRALIAN LABOUR DEMAND.

LABOUR LOAN REFUSED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

CANBERRA, Nov. 8. Following the receipt of a cable from Mr. James Scullin, the Premier, now in London, refusing the Labour Caucus loan demand, the Acting Premier, Mr. Fenton, announced that the Federal Government had rejected the proposal. Mr. Lyons will remain in office and proceed with the plans to arrange a regular conversion loan.

Mr. Fenton stated that some bond holders had offered to cancel the loan. The Government is now led by the Health Minister, Mr. Anstey, who was responsible for the Caucus motion on November 6.

DISARMAMENT
COMMISSION.GERMAN AMENDMENT
REJECTED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

GENEVA, Nov. 8. The Disarmament Commission rejected by 12 votes to 6 the German Amendment to Article One (relating to period of service in conscript armies) seeking to fix the figure of the annual contingent and total period of compulsory service.

The six in favour were Germany, Norway, Sweden, Holland, Soviet-Russia and China.

The British, Canadian and American delegations abstained from voting.

Herr Bernsdorff on behalf of Germany later said the amendment would be abandoned.

IMPERIAL PARLEY
PROLONGED.BIG ISSUES TO BE THRASHED OUT.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, Nov. 7. It is unlikely that the Imperial Conference will be able to complete its work next week. Several constitutional issues involving intricate technical questions still remain to be disposed of, including nationality questions, appeals to Privy Council, and the form of issue of exequaturs to foreign Consuls, in addition to constitutional questions raised in the report of the operation of Dominions Legislation, while on the economic side of decisions by the heads of the delegations are awaited on the various proposals which have been examined in Committee to secure closer inter-Imperial co-operation.

The heads of the delegations will take up the consideration of some of these matters on Monday, but no date has yet been fixed for the plenary session of the Conference. Several reports on less controversial subjects are ready for submission to the heads. These include that of the Committee on standardisation, in preparing which the industrial experts have assisted the technicians attached to the delegations. The report deals with the units of measurement and with industrial standardisation.

Electrical Standards.

The units in question include yards and pounds as well as electrical standards like ohms and volts, and the report recommends that each Dominion and India should be provided with a reference standard of each unit of measurement to be compared regularly with the originals.

The second part of the report recognises the value of standardisation as a means to economy and to efficiency in the interests alike of producers and consumers. It urges the setting up of a central standardising body in any Dominion where it does not already exist, and that central bodies should receive official support financially through the Government purchasing departments and otherwise. The report recommends regular and systematic consultation between various parts of the Empire with a view to establishing uniform standard specifications. The issue by each standardising body of a mark or brand to be applied under licence is recommended. The great need is stressed of the simplification by reduction of a variety of sizes, dimensions and immaterial differences in every-day commodities with the object of eliminating waste and reducing the cost of production.

ETHIOPIAN CORONATION.

PRESS RIVALRY TO GET PHOTOS TO LONDON.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Nov. 8. The keen rivalry of London newspapers to be the first in the field with photographs of the Ethiopian coronation led to dramatic flights from Addis Ababa. One group to-day presents pictures brought by Captain Lawrence Hope and Captain Birkett, who accomplished the great journey of 5,000 miles to Oroydon in five days. Major Irwin Clarke, piloting an opposition machine, set off from Addis Ababa a few hours earlier, and although ill, pluckily continued to Tunis, where he was compelled to give in. He was only able to despatch the photos to Marseilles by aeroplane the following day, whence they were telephoned to London, thus enabling simultaneous publication with the rival papers.

He will leave the Argentine for Brazil in the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company's motor vessel Alcantara, arriving on March 25 at Rio de Janeiro where he will spend two or three weeks. During this time it is understood that the Prince will endeavour to make a tour of those parts of the country which he was unable to visit during his last tour. R.101 TRAGEDY
SENSATION.AIRSHIP NOT AIRWORTHY FOR FLIGHT.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Nov. 7. There was a sensational episode at the resumed enquiry into the R.101 disaster to-day, when the Chairman, Sir John Simon, announced that he has just received two belated documents from Cardington. The first, which was from the designer of the airship, Colonel Richmond, to Major Scott, was dated September 2, and related to the report that Flight-Commander Irwin, on September 1, found the ship heavy in handling. Colonel Richmond estimated that the loss of lift due to holes in the gas bags would amount to one ton per square inch of the opening in 12 hours. He expressed the opinion that "this result is somewhat startling, as it emphasises the great importance of guarding against holes in these ships."

Gas Bags Failing. The second report, from the Inspecting Department, stated that a permit to fly was granted the R.101 till September 19, and declared that "owing to the recent modifications the gas bags were fouling the structural nuts and bolts." This was most serious, as the points of fouling may occur throughout the ship and amount to thousands. The padding did not provide a permanent remedy and the real cure would be a big undertaking, and might necessitate the removal of the bags from the ship. Therefore, "until the matter is seriously taken in hand and remedied, I do not recommend an extension of the present permit to fly."

Sir John Simon concluded decisively, "I shall require an explanation why these documents were not produced before."

"I Am Afraid Not." Mr. McWade, who was the writer of the letter from the Inspecting Department, questioned by Sir John Simon whether, having regard to the condition of the R.101, he would have given an "airworthiness certificate for the flight, replied, "I am afraid not."

The hearing was adjourned.

Heavy in Handling.

RUGBY, Nov. 7. The French Government Aeronautical experts gave evidence at the R.101 inquiry to-day, both expressing the opinion on having examined the wreckage that no rupture occurred in the structure before the airship struck the ground. Most of the day's proceedings were concerned with the condition of the R.101's gas bags and the possibility of leakage, causing a loss of lift.

Letters from Colonel Richmond, her designer, and Mr. McWade, of the Cardington Inspecting Department, were produced referring to holes which occurred in the fabric during June. Flight-Commander Irwin, commanding the R.101, reported on July 1 that the ship was heavy in handling and referred to the possibility of the loss of gas. In connection with his report Col. Richmond wrote to Major Scott, Director of Airship Development, calculating that the loss of lift worked out at about one ton per square inch of the opening in 12 hours, and asking for particulars of any holes found from time to time by the crew.

Mr. McWade also wrote to the Air Ministry regarding the chafing of the gas bags against the nuts and bolts, which, in spite of padding, showed holes, and stated that until the matter was remedied he could not recommend the issue of a further permit to fly.

Mr. McWade, giving evidence to-day, said that although before the R.101 set off to India the padding was quite satisfactory, the gas bags still weighted against the longitudinal and the points of fouling remained. Asked by Sir John Simon if he would have granted a certificate of airworthiness to the R.101 before her last flying, Mr. McWade replied: "I am afraid I would not have done so."

ALLEGED ADULTERATION OF MILK.CHINESE CHARGED WITH SERIOUS OFFENCE.

Before Mr. H. R. Butters at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court on Saturday a Chinese was charged with (a) diluting milk with water and (b) offering a bribe of 80 cents, to an Indian constable.

Outlining the case for the prosecution, Detective Sergeant Kellett stated that while Indian constable Rurd Khan was patrolling Carnarvon Road, he saw the defendant in an alleyway pouring water into three bottles which were half-filled with milk. When asked what he was doing, the man stated that he was only cleaning the bottles.

On the way to the Police Station, the man, it was alleged, offered 80 cents to the Indian constable, asking him to "let him off" at the same time saying that he was only cleaning the bottles.

The Indian constable next gave corroborative evidence. "The defendant, in making a statement from the dock, said that he was only cleaning the bottles when he was arrested. If the milk had been diluted, his master, who has a shop in Kowloon City, must have done it, for he did not know about it until he was charged. He admitted that he offered 80 cents to the constable. In reply to his Worship whether he would like to have the Government analyst called in order to prove that the milk had been diluted, defendant agreed, and said that he also wished his master to be called. The case was then remanded for 48 hours.

SOUTH CHINA TEAM STILL INVINCIBLE.

CLUB DEFEATED BY ST. JOSEPH'S.

POLICE PUT UP GOOD SHOW AGAINST RECREIO.

South China further pleased their supporters on Saturday when they defeated the Kowloon Football Club by three goals to one. They are at present occupying the premier position in the league table and, judging by their display on Saturday, they look like occupying that position for quite a while.

Their nearest rivals, the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, however, must be seriously reckoned with. This team had an easy time on Saturday, when they defeated Navy by 6 goals to one. St. Joseph's surprised the Club, and won by two goals to one after a thrilling game. The Police unexpectedly put up a struggle against the Recreio and were unlucky to lose by the odd goal in five.

In the Second Division table, the Somersets now take the lead in view of their win over the Kowloon team. The Club registered their first victory, their opponents being the Navy team.

The match between Eastern and St. Joseph's was postponed owing to the absence of the referee.

In the Third Division, Ewo defeated the Somersets, and both teams are now joint leaders in this section.

DIVISION I.

SOUTH CHINA v. KOWLOON.

By defeating Kowloon Football Club by 3 goals to 1 at Caroline Hill, South China Athletic Association maintained their unbeaten record. The teams lined-up as under:-

South China: Wong Ka Leung; Tam Kong Pak, Lee Tin Sang; Tong Kwan, Wong Mei Shun, Cheung Wing Chiu; Cheng Shui Hong, Chu Kwok Lun, Fung King Cheung, Lau Man and Ip Pak Wah.

Kowloon: Angus; Martin, Pile; Dowman, McKelvie, Bliss; Eastman, Gilchrist, Gillott, Hedley and Ianston.

Kowloon won the toss and set the Chinese to kick-off with the sum in their eyes, but despite this handicap the home team were early on the attack and a nice movement on the right wing gave Ip Pak Wah the ball. This player opened the scoring with a well-placed shot. Angus again came in for a busy spell during the following five minutes after which mid-field play was the order of the day. The visitors then raided the home goal but nothing resulted and the ball was taken into the Kowloon territory when the Chinese forced a corner which was cleared. The goals were then raided in turn but the half-time whistle went with no further scoring.

Almost following the start of the second half, Angus was given an anxious time. Bliss, however, cleared well from a threatening position following a corner, and taking the ball down the field, Hedley had bad luck in just grazing the cross-bar with a fine shot. Play was confined to the Chinese half for some time and a penalty was awarded to Kowloon through Ianston being fouled within the penalty area. From the resultant kick Gillott equalised for Kowloon.

This reversal seemed to give the Chinese renewed energy and Angus was soon busy again. Chu Kwok Lun eventually beat him with a beauty, and almost immediately Tam Kong Pak scored the third goal for the home team. From this stage onwards, Angus was conspicuous for his fine goal-keeping and he did not let in any further goals. The final score was: South China 3; Kowloon 1.

ST. JOSEPH'S v. CLUB.

On the Club ground, the College team emerged victors by the odd goal in three.

The home team kicked off and their custodian was called upon to save in the opening minutes. Then the home team took a hand in the attacking and Wellington tested Rocha with a hard drive but found him safe. A foul against Hyder looked dangerous for the College, but Rocha cleared in fine style and play was transferred to the other half, when Bishop conceded a corner. This was cleared, however, but the College were soon back on the attack and only the good work on the part of Rodgers prevented them from scoring. Even play followed for a while, then Lim broke through to score with a well-placed shot which gave Rodgers no chance at all.

Nothing daunted, the Club kept pressing, and their efforts were soon rewarded by a goal from Goldman who slammed the leather into the net from a pass from Duncan. Thus the interval came with the sides on level terms.

The second half was a ding-dong struggle, each team trying hard to gain the lead, with the result that some excellent football was seen. The fine work on the part of the two goalies earned them rounds of applause. Then Lim did a fine solo run and beat Rodgers again to put his side one up. The rest of the game saw the College team on the defensive while the Club were pressing when the final whistle sounded with the scores: St. Joseph's 2; Club 1.

The teams were:-

Club: Rodgers, Strange, Bishop; Segalen, Stewart, McBride; G. Duncan, Gray, Goldman, A. Duncan and Wellington.

St. Joseph's: Rocha; Hyder, Gomes, Victor, Skinner, Omar; Goodwin, Leonard, Lim, Tarney and Wee Tong.

POLICE v. RECREIO.

A fast and interesting game on the Railway ground resulted in a win for the Recreio by the odd goal in five. The teams were:-

Police: Clark, Perkins, Williams; McGreevy, Oram, Shepherd; Pile, Thorpe, Fraser, Bentley and Brown.

Recreio: W. Lawrence; S. Sousa, P. M. Xavier; N. Beltrao, L. Gosano, V. Marques; B. Gosano, A. Ward, J. M. Silva, L. Rocha and J. C. Santos.

Long swinging shots marked the opening of this game, the ball travelling from one end of the ground to the other at a very fast pace. Each goal in turn was subjected to a rapid and accurate attack. The goalkeepers were well-cleared, but B. Gosano eventually beat Clark with a beautiful shot.

RECREIO KEPT UP A HOT ATTACK FOR A TIME, BUT WITHOUT RESULT, AND THE POLICE RETURNED ON THE LEFT, BUT THE INSIDE MEN MISSED A FINE PASS FROM BROWN. A MELEE IN FRONT OF THE RECREIO GOALMOUTH RESULTED IN BENTLEY EQUALISING FOR THE POLICE.

When play was resumed, Silva ran through to beat Clark with a low shot, and inspired by this success, the Recreio lads swarmed the Police goal but Silva headed wide. They persisted, however, and were rewarded with another goal which was the result of a free kick. During the closing stages the Police goal was in danger of again falling, but Clark was safe and cleared well. Just on time the Police made a great rally, and after two fruitless corners had been forced, Fraser reduced the arrears when he beat Lawrence from close inside bringing the final scores to Recreio 3, Police 2.

In the Stadium, Argyle had an easy time and accounted for the Navy team by six goals to one, but they are still occupying second position in the league table on account of their surprise defeat at the hands of the Hong Kong Football Club sometime ago. The Navy team was nothing like the last year's eleven, and although they only lost one goal to the Highlanders in the first half of the game on Saturday, the second half found the Scottish forwards in a deadly form as a result of which the Argyle netted five further goals.

Navy attacked early but Lowden's header went behind, and another opportunity at this early stage for the Navy to score was spoiled when Toomey failed to find the net from a good centre pass which he received from Dickinson. The first goal was registered when the Navy goalies had the misfortune to divert the ball into his own net from a shot sent in by Campbell. The Highlanders continued to press till the interval.

In the second half, the Argyle added five more goals, one of which was from a penalty kick. The scorers were Willie Walker, Campbell Henderson and Hughes. Towards the closing stages of the game, the Navy were awarded a penalty from which Dickinson scored.

Result: Navy 1, Argyle 6.

Navy: Clucas; Noonan, Howell; Gashouse, Fones, Timberlake; Lowden, Melitt, Toomey, Wootton and Dickinson.

Argyle: Gardiner; Smiles, Henderson; Greive, Hay Yeoman; Hughes, Willie Walker, Melville and Campbell.

Referee: Mr. J. W. Baldwin.

DIVISION II.

CLUB v. NAVY.

The Club players surprised the Navy on their own ground when they defeated the sailors by two goals to one. From the start the Club attacked, and Strang had hard luck in not scoring when his shot hit the upright bar of the Navy's goal. However, the Club soon scored through Alexander who, after a nice run down on the wing, beat Savage with a well-placed shot. From now on the Navy attacked and were unfortunate in missing several chances to score through poor shooting.

After the interval, the sailors continued to press, and after some splendid efforts, were successful in equalising. A splendid run by Fowler resulted in the second goal for the Club by Strang.

Result: Club 2, Navy 1.

Club: Fogwill; Stoker, Hynes; Sloan, Panchon, Talvin; Alexander, Bell, Strang, Jackson and Fowler.

Navy: Savage; Bigwell; Wheatley; Pope, Hobbs, Davis; Allen, Vallor, Foote, McAnley and Parsons.

Referee: Mr. Lawrence.

KOWLOON v. SOMERSETS.

Playing on their own ground, Kowloon were badly beaten by five goals to one. From the kick-off the "Sats" attacked and opened their scoring through Guest. Soon afterwards Denmad registered the second goal for the soldiers. Kowloon then got away, and from White's pass, Cotton missed narrowly with a difficult angle shot, and a moment later the same player shot hard against the upright. Kowloon again broke away and Simpson, with a fine solo effort, went through the defense, to beat Hall with a good shot.

From now on the soldiers pressed and scored three goals in succession, one from Denmad and two from Guest.

Kowloon: Gurevitch; Quest, Moss; Smith, Simpson, Everest; White, Davis, Sparry, Cotton and Blekford.

Somersets: Hall; Green, Palmer; Smith, Gurevitch, Everest, Gegg, Kearle, Guest, Denmad, Lyschon and Chislett.

Referee: Cpl. Dimond.

SOUTH CHINA v. ARGVILLS.

The Chinese were the first to attack from the kick-off, and within a few minutes opened their scoring, Wu Yin Tung kicking through a crowd of players into the goal. The soldiers, however, were not to be deterred, and after making several fine efforts, were awarded a penalty in which they made no mistake in scoring their equaliser. Encouraged by this success, they continued to press and soon got the lead through King, who sent in a hard drive, giving the Chinese goalkeeper no chance. The Chinese now fell off, and the soldiers, taking advantage of this, scored five more goals before the final whistle was sounded.

Result: South China 1; Argvills 7.

South China: Tsui Kim Hang; Lau Kau, Ching Fat Lan; You Wah Hing; Cheung Kwok Ching; To Kwang; Wong King Chong; Yee Sun; Lee Ka Lin, Wu Y. Tin and Kwok Hon Wah.

Argvills: Hunter; Dogerty, Norton; Stewart, Grant, McDonald; Reid, Paton, King, Cannon and Marwell.

Referee: Sergt. Hayball.

UNIVERSITY v. RECREIO.

Playing on the Chinese Athletic ground at Happy Valley, the University defeated the Club de Recreio by two goals to one after a ding-dong struggle. Play was very even, both goals being visited in turn. Fine play by Santos enabled Gonsalves to score for the Recreio. Though from now on the game was all in favour of the University, they were unable to equalise through poor shooting on the part of their forwards.

The second half was a repetition of the first. The University again attacked, and ten minutes before the end, Reed equalised, with a nice shot outside the penalty area. A few minutes later Lee scored their winning goal.

Recreio: Britto; Costa, Lawrence; Silva, Figueiredo, Oliveira; Assis, Figueiredo, Gonsalves, Santos and Souza.

University: Oppenheim; Harrison, Bee; Reed, Wong, Low; Ong, Cheung, Tan, Kio and Lee.

Referee: L.C. Ayco.

DIVISION III.

SOMERSETS v. EWO.

The Somersets were completely surprised by Ewo by two goals to one when they met on the Chatham Road ground. Churchill scored for the Somersets while Kan Sik Wai and Chan Yon Tai scored for Ewo.

R.A.F. v. FUKIEN.

Fukien were too good for the R.A.F. and won by seven goals to two on the Recreio ground.

Wai Tai Kwan (3); Cheung Koon Song (2); Lung Chi Cheung, Chan Tay Koon were the scorers for the Fukien while Atkins and Hart scored for the R.A.F.

EASTERN v. RADIO SPORTS.

A fast and exciting game was played on the Naval ground on Saturday with the R.S.C. winning by 2 goals to 1.

POLO NOTES.

VISIT OF THE GREEN HOWARDS.

SERIES OF MATCHES ARRANGED.

Plans regarding matches to be played during the visit here of the Green Howards team from Shanghai have been more or less settled. The present programme calls for ordinary station polo on every regular polo day and three special four chukka matches. In these the Green Howards will meet a civilian side, an army side and, as a final, a team representing the Hong Kong Polo Club. This last match will be the most important game and is scheduled to take place on Friday, November 21, when a gala day will be held. On that occasion, by kind permission of Lt. Col. Maclean and Officers, the Bank of the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders will play.

The game against the Civilians will take place on Friday next, 14th inst., and their side will be composed as follows:

Back, Mr. Newbigging;
No. 3, Mr. Bousfield;
No. 2, Mr. Stanton;
No. 1, Mr. Heard;

A Curtain Raiser.

Three members of this team have been playing together a great deal and understand each other's combination. The fourth man, Mr. Bousfield, is new to this side but is an accurate hitter, forceful in his attack, but unfortunately he is none too well mounted and, furthermore, Mr. Newbigging will be on borrowed points. However, this game should prove a fair curtain raiser to the series and provide the Green Howards an opportunity to get themselves organised for the other matches to come.

The second game is against an all army side and will be played on Monday, November 17. The Hong Kong Garrison probably will be represented by the following players:-

Back, Captain Carmichael;
No. 3, Mayor Campbell;
No. 2, Mr. Bramwell;
No. 1, Colonel Brownrigg, Reserve, Mr. Worral.

Brilliant Players.

This side is composed of brilliant individual players and on paper is rather a hot one. However, they have not played as a unit, although they will be given an opportunity to put in some practice. I believe this match will be a good one and I know our Army side will put up a very fine show. Not having seen the Green Howards play I cannot compare relative merits. The last of the series is the Green Howards versus the Hong Polo Club, and for the latter the following side has been tentatively selected:-

Back, Mr. Newbigging;
No. 3, Captain Carmichael;
No. 2, Mr. Stanton;
No. 1, Colonel Brownrigg, Reserve, Mr. Worral.

Question of Mounts.

In picking the composition of these teams the Committee has had to be influenced not solely by the ability of the players but rather more by the question of their mounts. For lack of suitable ponies some of Hong Kong's better players have had to be eliminated. The umpires for all three matches will be Lt. Col. Maclean and Major Clark, both of whom with their many years' experience have a thorough knowledge of polo. Play will start sharp at 4 p.m. on each of the days mentioned, and the programme will begin with one or two ordinary station chukkas to be followed by the four chukka matches as scheduled. The Committee of the Polo Club urges members to bring guests, and they promise most interesting games to watch.

SCHOOLGIRLS RUN A HOUSE.

NEW EXPERIMENT IN EDUCATION.

The Board of Education in England have commended the Walsall Education Committee for introducing into England a novel form of teaching house duties to girls.

During the whole of the summer term thirty Walsall schoolgirls occupied a large furnished house, The Limes, in Littleton Street, which was rented specially for the purpose. The girls had various studies and received special instruction in general housecraft, as distinct from the more formal cooking and laundry lessons.

The girls revelled in this new method of learning and the new surroundings, and the education has been valuable in teaching deportment, self-discipline, and initiative among other things. The girls were common in Germany, but Walsall is believed to be the first experiment of its kind in England.

INDIAN RECREATION CLUB'S FOURTH SUCCESSIVE VICTORY.

CLUB DE RECREIO TAKE FULL POINTS FROM POLICE RECREATION CLUB.

BATSMEN AND BOWLERS SHARE AFTERNOON'S HONOURS.

In spite of the fact that eight clubs in the junior division were engaged in league fixtures, there was not a single league match in the senior section though several friendlies were played.

The Indian Recreation Club seconds registered their fourth successive win of the season, their victims this time being the Royal Army Service Corps, but they had to fight hard for the three points as they were given very limited time in which to get the runs. Recreio did well to beat the Police, while the Hong Kong Cricket Club and University obtained full points from Craigengower Cricket Club and Royal Corps of Signals, respectively.

Several high individual scores were returned while the bowlers also came in for their share. A. P. Guterres, of the Recreio, was the highest scorer of the afternoon with 83 against the Police, while bowling honours went to M. R. Abbas, of the Indian Recreation Club, who, in taking 4 wickets for 7 runs against the R.A.S.C., also had the distinction of performing the "hat-trick."

LEAGUE—DIVISION II.

M. R. ABBAS' "HAT-TRICK."

Indians Score Their Fourth Successive Win.

Calling right in the spin, the leader of the R.A.S.C. elected to bat on a very hard wicket, and as the rate of scoring was extremely slow, the Indians were kept in the field for some two hours before they could get the military team out for 93 runs. L/C. Macnamara was their top-scorer with 23 not out which was the result of a painfully slow innings, while Cadman and Cole got 13 apiece. The Indians tried no less than nine bowlers of whom M. R. Abbas was the most successful. This bowler sent down four overs for seven runs, taking four wickets and performing the hat-trick into the bargain!

The I.R.C. had very limited time in which to get the runs and this was even reduced by the continual changing of the field. However, M. P. Madar gave his side a good start with a well-played 23, while Arculli helped with 15. Ackber and Esmail made 13 runs each and the Indians eventually knocked off the required runs with two wickets in hand. Cole (4 for 12) was the most successful bowler for the soldiers.

RECREIO'S GOOD WIN.

Fine Innings by A. P. Guterres.

A feature of this game, which was played at Happy Valley, was the fact that they lost a run by A. P. Guterres, the Recreio fast bowler, who sent the ball to the ring sixteen times and once out of the ground during a merry stay at the wicket.

The home team batted first but started disastrously. Taking advantage of this early success, the Recreio bowlers sent down some excellent stuff with the result that the Police were all out for just 100 runs with Thorpe and Sparrow (18 runs each) as their chief scorers. For the Recreio, Alves took 4 wickets for 27 runs while Souza had two for 17.

After Xavier (23) and L. J. Guterres (31) had given the Portuguese lads a good start, A. P. Guterres went in for a merry time at the wicket and batted excellently for his 83. They were thus able to close their innings for the big total of 184 runs for nine wickets. King (3 for 32) was the most successful bowler for the home team.

LOW-SCORING MATCH AT HAPPY VALLEY.

League Holders Win.

In a low-scoring match at Happy Valley, Hong Kong Cricket Club seconds defeated the Craigengower Cricket Club by two wickets.

Taking first lease of the wicket, the home team compiled 68 runs in spite of the fact that they were given a fairly good start by N. B. Kitchell (10), A. Kitchell (14) and J. W. Leonard (16). For the H.K.C.C. Hutchinson took three wickets for 8 runs while Collins had two for one run each.

Despite the fact that they dismissed their opponents for a comparatively poor total, the Cricket Club had to fight tooth and nail for their runs as the fielding of the home team was of a very high standard. Planner (28) and Wolff (20), however, put on 50 for the fifth wicket, thus enabling their side to win by two wickets. Way returned the best analysis for the C.C.C., taking 3 for 12.

TAN IN DEADLY FORM WITH THE BALL.

Royal Signals Skittled Out Cheaply.

Journeying to Pokfulam, the Royal Corps of Signals were unfortunate in finding the University trundlers on the top of their form, with the result that when they went in to take first innings, they were retired for the poor total of 40 runs. Webb was their highest scorer with 11 runs, and he was, incidentally, the only man to run into double figures. P. L. Tan was in irresistible form with the ball, taking seven wickets for two runs apiece.

H. Normanbhoy (34) and Silva (22) played sound cricket to give the undergraduates a nine wicket victory. Going on rather late, Williams took six wickets for 15 runs for the Signallers.

FRIENDLY MATCHES.

DRAWN GAME AT K.C.C.

Home Team's Fight Against Time.

Making the trip across the harbour, Civil Service Cricket Club drew with the K.C.C.

The visitors had first knock but started shakily, and it was left to R. H. Griffiths (35) to improve the situation for them. They were, however, all out for 139 runs, not by any means a good score against the league holders. Shipsey was the most successful bowler for the Kowloonites, his figures being 2 for 01.

After losing their first wicket early on, Kowloon tried hard to force the pace but time was called when they were still 23 runs in arrears with eight wickets in hand. "Teddy" Fincher was top-scorer with 39 not out, "E.F." contributed 33 and Freddie Zimmerman 35, not out.

EASY WIN FOR H.K.C.C.

More Again Plays Fine Innings.

On the Hong Kong Cricket Club ground, the home team scored an easy win over the University by the margin of six wickets.

The visitors batted first but against the consistent bowling of the Club were all out when they still wanted seven runs to reach the century mark. A. C. Beck again distinguished himself with the ball, returning the fine analysis of 5 for 27.

A feature of the H.K.C.C. innings was a polished knock for 61 (retired) by G. R. More who has been making so many runs lately. A. C. I. Bowker put together 39 (not out) in quick time to help to bring the total to 182 runs for 6 wickets.

DASHING KNOCK BY A. K. MINU.

Indians Easily Beat Highlanders.

Playing at home the Indian Recreation Club easily accounted for the Argylis and Sutherland Highlanders by the margin of seven wickets.

The soldiers batted first and just as Lieut. Dowar-Durio (16) appeared to be settling down for a fine knock, he was unfortunate in being given out vid the l.b.w. route off a ball which hit his bat first. Corpl. McTavish (10) was the only other bat to reach double figures and the side were all out for 63 runs. Bowling honours were shared by the I.R.C. bowlers with Pereira (4 for 24) the most successful.

Losing their first three wickets cheaply, the Indians went on to make 183 for 7 wickets. A. K. Minu played a sparkling innings for 68 runs (retired), while E. Hiptoola hit out merrily for 38 not out.

OMAR BOWLS WELL.

Navy Badly Trounced At King's Park.

A fine piece of bowling by U. M. Omar who took 7 wickets for 15 runs enabled the Craigengower Cricket Club to beat the Royal Navy by eight wickets at King's Park.

The sailors batted first but could only muster 39 runs. Rhodes was top-scorer with 17, Kendall made 12, while "Mr. Extras" contributed a useful 15.

After losing their first wicket cheaply, S. V. Gittins (57) and A. T. Lee (44) batted merrily to enable the visitors to win by the comfortable margin of eight wickets. They had scored 140 for 7 when stumps were drawn.

CLOSE GAME AT HAPPY VALLEY.

Gregory's Fine Display.

A very interesting game was played between the second strings of the Civil Service Club and Kowloon Cricket Club at Happy Valley which ended in a win for the former by 17 runs. They batted first and a fine knock for 47 by F. E. Matthews and 38 by H. C. K. Hawkins helped them to compile the respectable total of 140. H. Overy-for-the K.C.C. took 3 for 16.

The K.C.C. started none too well but settling down to bright cricket, D. W. Gregory made 91, and with A. W. R. Adams making 23, it looked as though they were still 17 runs in arrears, their last wicket-fall, giving the home team a well deserved win.

CANTON BRANCH—4,

CHARITY EVENTS.

SUCCESSFUL FAIR AND SALE OF WORK.

CANOSSIAN INSTITUTE AND UNION CHURCH FUNCTIONS.

The sale of work organized by the Women's Guild of the Union Church, Kowloon, with a view to raising their promised quota, namely $3,000, towards the new Church building and Manse furnishing funds, was held at the grounds of the Kowloon Cricket Club on Saturday. The opening ceremony was performed by Lady Peel.

A large number of patrons were present and many purchases were made at the stalls, which included needle work, novelty, sweets, white elephant (Y.P.S.), toys and a brass tub. Many side-shows contributed largely towards making the afternoon enjoyable, and pleasing selections were rendered by the band of the Army and Sutherland Highlanders.

Rev. J. Horace Johnston, previous to the bazaar being opened, addressed the gathering, and explained that the object of the Women's Guild in organizing the function was to raise funds for the new Church buildings and Manse, which, when completed, would be a great asset in serving the community.

In the absence of Mrs. Johnston, President of the Women's Guild, Mrs. D. Harvey thanked Lady Peel for her presence. The Guild had promised $3,000, and in raising this amount had held two whist drives at Kowloon Dock, both of which realized good sums. Mrs. Harvey, then invited Lady Peel to declare the sale of work open. Little Flora Cow presented Lady Peel with a basket of gladioli, amid loud applause.

During the afternoon, a lawn bowls match was played between the K.B.G.C. and the Union Church, the latter team winning by one shot after an exciting game.

Prior to the distribution of silver spoons to members of the winning team by Mrs. Johnston, the Rev. Horace Johnston remarked that he saw no reason why there should not be a regular competition between Hong Kong Union Church and the Kowloon Union Church, as both sides included a number of good bowlers.

CANOSSIAN INSTITUTE.

Lady Peel was also present at the annual Charity Fair of the Canossian Institute and performed the opening ceremony before a large gathering. The function was a two-days affair, and the object was to raise money to support several charitable institutions, including the St. Francis Convent, Wanchai, the Sacred Heart Convent, Orphanage for Blind Girls, Chinese school at Aberdeen, St. Mary's School, Kowloon, and the Peak Wood Hospital. The bazaar was continued yesterday, and the various stalls had practically all their wares cleared.

On Saturday, Lady Peel, accompanied by Captain T. A. H. Colman, A.D.C. arrived at the main gate of the Institute and was met by the Rev. Mother Superior (Sister Theresa) and the Head Sister. The party then passed through the grounds which were decorated with bunting and flags and which presented a gay appearance. In the hall of the Convent buildings, Lady Peel was presented with a pair of scissors by a little girl. Her Ladyship then performed the opening ceremony by cutting a wide white ribbon which was stretched across the main door. She was the presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses. Lady Peel evinced much interest in the many stalls and made several purchases. St. Mary's School helped to entertain the afternoon by providing an orchestra.

The School Company of Girl Guides provided a Guard of Honour. The bazaar was opened by Lady Peel prior to her declaring the bazaar open.

APPLICATION TO REDUCE CAPITAL.

An application by the Hong Kong Engineering & Construction Co., Ltd. (and reduced) under the Companies Ordinance 1911 came for hearing before the Chief Justice (Mr. Justice Wood) under Miscellaneous Proceedings at the Supreme Court on Saturday.

Mr. Leo D'Almeida, jr., instructed by Mr. H. J. Armstrong, of Messrs. Deacons, for the company, referred to an affidavit and the petition made to the Court in which reference was made to a special resolution passed by the Company at an extraordinary general meeting as follows:

"That the capital of the Company be reduced from $1,000,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $10 each, of which 95,500 have been issued and are now outstanding, to $800,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $8 each, and that such reduction be effected by cancelling capital which has been lost or is unrepaid by available assets to the extent of $8 per share upon each of the 95,500 shares which have been issued and are now outstanding, and by reducing the nominal amount of all shares in the Company's capital from $10 to $8 per share."

Counsel asked that the reduction of capital to be effected by the special resolution may be confirmed and that the minute may be approved; that the addition of the words "and reduced" may be dispensed with altogether; and that such order may be made as shall seem fit to the Court.
